

Thanks for checking out the Gem Bone hooks, one of the newest ranges from Bare Bones Lock Picking!

These five hooks are the result from collaboration between Bare Bones Lock Picking and the Australasian Pickers Discord. Bare Bones Lock Picking is extremely grateful for the experience and knowledge shared by the Australasian Pickers Discord that's made these five profiles possible.

To provide more specific targeting of the keyway, the Gem Bone hooks are separated into two set sets.

The 'Opal' and 'Sapphire' have a narrow shank specifically designed to target cores that have tight or restricted keyways. We recommend these to intermediate or advanced pickers.

The 'Emerald' and 'Jade' share a similar profile's to 'Opal' and 'Sapphire' respectively however have a wider shank. They are more universal to a wider range of keyways while providing improved strength and feedback. We recommend these to beginners or intermediate pickers.

The 'Diamond' profile mimics the 'Opal' and 'Sapphire' curved hook tip however doesn't share the same recess cutout. It has a wider shank and is recommended to beginners or intermediate pickers.

Our Gem Bone profiles are available in .023 thickness only and can be purchased as a set or individually through our website
